

BA FINE ART YEAR 0*

Fine Art Year 0 allows students to engage with a variety of fine art practices and processes including drawing, painting, printmaking, sculpture, photography and video. The course aims to provide a solid practical preparation for entry to our BA(Hons) in Fine Art.

*Course subject to validation

This mainly studio-based course enjoys access to NUCA's excellent workshop facilities, all of which are managed by specialist technicians.

Initially you will be given specific projects that are designed to build your ability and confidence and explore areas of personal interest. You will be encouraged to take risks and to question pre-conceived ideas and assumptions.

The range of teaching methods employed includes lectures, seminars, tutorials, group critiques and self-directed study. Our talented team of fine art staff display a breadth of expertise, ensuring you receive a rounded and stimulating experience.

Alongside your studio work you will be introduced, through debate, to issues relating to contemporary fine art. This will assist you to bring context to your work.

After successfully completing Year 0, you will be guaranteed a place on the BA(Hons) Fine Art course at Norwich University College of the Arts.

Who should apply

Fine Art Year 0 is suitable for a variety of students.

- You may have studied A levels that are not entirely relevant to your chosen degree. Therefore, an intensive year of study will help you build a suitable portfolio for a Year 1 undergraduate course, or
- You may not have the necessary grades to start an undergraduate course, or
- You may be a mature student with relevant work experience but no formal qualifications.
