Section 19 of the Freedom of Information Act requires every public authority to adopt and maintain a publication scheme which has been approved by the Information Commissioner, and to publish information in accordance with the scheme. In common with other public authorities, from 1 January 2009 the University College has been required to adopt the Information Commissioner's Office 'Model Publication Scheme' (MPS).

The University College also uses the Definition Documentation for the Model Publication Scheme for Universities' published by the ICO in 2008, and this Guide to Information is designed to clarify which information is specifically published by the University College under the seven 'classes' of information.

The University College has decided to make information accessible through its website (www.nuca.ac.uk) wherever possible, and an online guide to information (based on the 2005 publication scheme) continues to be readily accessible through the Freedom of Information section of the website (www.nuca.ac.uk/about-us/foia/overview).

Where information is not currently available through the website, alternative means of access are indicated below. Where applicable, a charge will be made for providing information in this way, as well as for requests for hard copy versions of information accessible through the website. Charges* will include reprographic (2p per page), and postage and packaging costs. Some information may be inspected by visiting the University College premises, and no charge is made for this.

The Guide will be updated periodically to reflect any changes in mode of information access.
